

Traffic Signals, Street Repairs And City Lights

Board of Public Works Decides to Purchase More Traffic Signals—Emerson Street Residents Promised Relief—Other Matters at Monthly Board Session.

Deciding to install new "Stop and Go" signals at West Union and Wurts streets and at St. James street and Broadway and also to install "Stop" signals on Broadway on each side of East O'Reilly street that will flash on when the fire apparatus of the Central Fire Station is responding to an alarm, and promising relief to a delegation of residents from Emerson street who wanted the street placed in a passable condition, were two of the most important matters taken up at the regular monthly meeting of the board of public works Tuesday evening at the city hall. Mayor E. J. Dempsey presided with Commissioners Amos Van Eiten, E. E. Fessenden and Henry Forst in attendance.

The new traffic signals. The board decided to install one of the new traffic signals on Wurts street at West Union street which will synchronize with the present traffic signals at the Rondout Creek bridge. The other traffic signal will be installed at Broadway and St. James street and will be of the same type as the present "Stop and Go" signals.

Some time ago the board of fire commissioners took up the matter with the board of public works in regard to installing traffic stop signals on Broadway on each side of East O'Reilly street. These signals will flash on, halting traffic, when the fire apparatus is swinging out of O'Reilly street from the fire station into Broadway. One will be installed near the Torrey furniture store and the other near the Chamber of Commerce building.

Emerson Street Delegation. A delegation of residents from Emerson street, headed by County Treasurer Herbert Thomas and County Clerk Walter G. Gerold, appeared before the board, asking that something be done to make the block on Emerson street between Main street and Lucas avenue passable. All that was desired was to have the street filled and the street closed. As there are from twelve to twenty unimproved lots in that section, the delegation, through its spokesman, Mr. Thomas, stated that it was not desired to have a permanent street built at present.

The delegation was assured by the board that the matter would be shortly taken care of.

Madden Street Sewer. City Engineer G. Wallace Codwise reported that the estimated cost of building a sewer in Madden street would be $350, of which the city would pay 25 per cent of the cost. Recently a resident of that street had asked that he be furnished an estimate of the cost of building a sewer.

Spring Street Petition. Several residents of upper Spring street filed a petition, with the board of health asking that insanitary conditions be eliminated by building a sewer. The petition had been referred to the board of public works and was read and referred to the street committee and city engineer to ascertain the cost of constructing the proposed sewer.

Electric Street Signs. Al King applied for permission to install electric street signs in front of the Buick agency at 254 Clinton avenue; the Brier Rose Tea Room at 562 Broadway; and the restaurant at 37 North Front street. The petition was referred to Superintendent Mills with power. The same action was taken in the application of Joseph Jacobson to install an electric sign in front of his place of business at 64 Broadway.

Cornell House Company was granted permission to use part of Abel street for its block party on the evening of June 3.

Schryver Court Light. The board adopted the report of the lighting committee which recommended that a small street light be installed at the entrance to Schryver court.

The board audited bills and claims.

Inspected Street Lights. The board then adjourned to take an inspection of street lighting conditions. Alderman Haines had requested that a street light be installed on Teller street and also one on Albany avenue. The board not only inspected those sites but also others on its tour.

Negro Taken from Jail Mangled. Alamo, Tenn., May 29 (P).—A mob of about 100 men early today entered the Crockett county jail here, removed Joe Bekker, 19-year-old negro accused of attacking the wife of a justice of the peace, and hanged him to a tree four miles from town.

Operate Central Hudson Steamers

Hudson River Steamboat Company Organized to Operate Central Hudson Line, Now Jointly Owned by Day Line and Night Line; A. V. S. Olcott Named President.

The Hudson River Day Line and the Hudson River Night Line, which jointly acquired the properties of the Central Hudson Steamboat Company on May 5, have incorporated under the laws of Delaware, the Hudson River Steamboat Company, Inc., to operate the former well known freight and passenger services of the Central Hudson Line.

The name of the new company is a repetition of the name of an old New Jersey corporation formed on February 21, 1845, to operate steamboats on the Hudson River. Among the incorporators of the old Hudson River Steamboat Company were Abraham Van Santvoord and Alfred Van Santvoord, great-grandfather and grandfather respectively, of Alfred Van Santvoord Olcott, the president of the new corporation. Abraham Van Santvoord was president of the old company from the time it was formed until his death on August 12, 1855. The old corporation was dissolved in May, 1876.

Officers of the new Hudson River Steamboat Company are A. V. S. Olcott, vice president and general manager of the Day Line, president; C. F. Gebelein, freight traffic manager and Howard Curtis, passenger traffic manager of the Night Line, will act in the same capacity for the new corporation.

The directors are George C. Warner, Carl Crosby, A. V. S. Olcott and W. M. K. Olcott. All inquiries concerning the new company should be addressed to Pier 32, North River, present offices, and pier of the Night Line.

Freight Service to Kingston. The freight service between New York, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Kingston will be continued substantially the same as formerly operated by the Central Hudson Line while a Saturday afternoon boat and a Sunday morning boat will be operated in the passenger service. The Benjamin B. Odell, largest of the fleet, will leave Battery 8:40 a. m. pier 32, North River, the Night Line's ship at 10 a. m. and West 129th street, the Day Line's ship at 10:30 a. m. on Sundays for Cold Spring, Beacon, Newburgh and return.

In addition to the Benjamin B. Odell, the fleet of the former Central Hudson Line is made up of the Poughkeepsie, Homer Ramondell, and Newburgh. All four vessels are prepared to handle a large share of the freight and passenger traffic moving on the Hudson.

The Central Hudson Line, which was organized by former Governor Odell, has long been associated with the development of the Hudson and its acquisition by the Hudson River Day Line and the Hudson River Night Line has been hailed by shippers and the traveling public. The Day Line recently celebrated its 100th anniversary on the river while the Night Line is preparing to celebrate a similar anniversary shortly.

Extend Time in Marlborough Case

Continuous Court Work Has Made It Impossible to Make Transcript of Stenographer's Notes, So Time Is Extended for Filing Memoranda on Motions.

An extension of time was granted defendant's counsel for filing memoranda in support of a motion to set aside the verdict of the jury in the action to set aside a deed brought by John L. Passmore against Janet Passmore of Marlborough. The case was tried at the present term of Supreme court and resulted in a verdict for plaintiff, setting aside the deed on the grounds of undue influence used in securing the execution of a deed.

Plaintiff, a son of Mr. Passmore, contended that Mr. Passmore's second wife had secured a deed to the Passmore farm within a brief time prior to the death of Mr. Passmore and contended that at the time of the signing of the deed deceased was not mentally capable of signing that instrument. It is the contention of plaintiff that it had been his father's intention as expressed in a will to divide the property equally between his two children and his wife.

Defendant claimed that the will which had so disposed of the property was destroyed by Mr. Passmore the day he died and the deed executed about a month prior was properly drawn and signed and at that time Mr. Passmore knew what he was doing and was capable of drawing up such instrument.

Plaintiff claimed that for months morphine had been administered to his father to deaden severe pain and that when he signed the deed he was under the influence of an opiate.

Transatlantic Air Race Delayed By Two Accidents

One Wheel of American Monoplane Drops Into Soft Sand on the Take-off, French Monoplane Opens Scam in Wing Tank—Prepare for Take-off Thursday.

Old Orchard, Maine, May 29 (P).—Transatlantic flights of the monoplane Green Flash and Yellow Bird were definitely postponed for today after takeoff attempts ended in near disaster.

After receiving weather advice which indicated continued fair weather for tomorrow, the fliers decided to abandon a second attempt today.

Pilot Roger C. Williams of the Green Flash said an early start tomorrow would permit a full day of daylight flying.

The American monoplane Green Flash didn't even get off the beach, one wheel dropping into soft sand on the takeoff and whirling the ship in a wracking ground loop that spilled gasoline and necessitated thorough investigation for possible damage due to strain.

The French monoplane Yellow Bird got into the air but a seam in one of the wing tanks opened and it returned after a 20-minute struggle to gain altitude.

How soon the planes could be prepared for a second attempt was not immediately known but it was felt generally that the takeoff had been delayed at least for several hours and many felt that in order to get a full day of daylight flying at the beginning of the flight the aviators would postpone their next start until tomorrow.

The American plane was manned by Roger C. Williams and Lewis A. Yancy, the French one by Rene LeFevre, Jean Assolant and Armo Lotti.

Armo Lotti, backer of the flight, in a statement after his return, told of his expectations for another takeoff attempt as soon as the gasoline tank could be repaired, probably before tomorrow.

Harold Avery, the 12 year old son of Irving Avery of 51 Washington avenue, was injured about 6:40 o'clock Tuesday evening when the bicycle he was riding on Clinton avenue was struck by a Ford sedan driven by Sybil Schackel of R. F. D. No. 4. The youth was taken to the Kingston Hospital by Miss Schackel and an X-ray will be taken to determine the extent of his injuries. It is thought that he sustained a possible fracture of the skull.

East Suffers From Hot Wave

New York, May 29 (P).—Heat of mid-summer intensity which descended upon the east yesterday brought with it general discomfort, prostrations and deaths from drowning and lightning.

In New York city the temperature and humidity both reached 83 degrees and thousands of residents sought relief at the nearby beaches. It was the second warmest day of the year, the thermometer on April 7 having reached 86 degrees. One death from drowning was reported. The highest temperature, however, was reported from Boston, where records of 56 years for the day were shattered when the thermometer reached 90.8 degrees. Twenty persons were prostrated.

The heat wave was general throughout New England. New Hampshire, which a week ago suffered a crop damaging frost, reported a temperature ranging from 88 to 90 degrees.

Supreme Court To Be Continued Here Next Week

Court When It Recedes Today Will Adjourn Until Tuesday—Testimony Closed in Negligence Action at Noon Today.

On the call of the calendar in Supreme court this morning several additional cases were moved for trial and in an effort to clear up as many cases as possible Judge McNamee announced that he would continue the term of court next week commencing Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock and that court would adjourn until that time. This action was taken in order to give the county court an opportunity to convene Monday afternoon and at that time an adjournment will be taken by county court for one week.

The negligence action brought by Sophie Ehrlich and Morris Ehrlich against William Harp, Jr., was continued. At noon testimony was closed and the case was sent to the jury after summation and charge. Defendant claims that the accident which resulted in serious injury to Mrs. Ehrlich's daughter was caused by Mr. Ehrlich's negligent manner in operating his car. The driver of the Harp truck testified his car was to the right of the road as it rounded the turn and remained to the right when it was struck by the Ehrlich car which skidded into it.

An action brought by Harp against Ehrlich which has been settled was the cause of grounds for a motion by defendant's counsel to dismiss the complaint in regard to Mr. Ehrlich. Mr. Ehrlich testified he had been sued by Mr. Harp for damages to his truck but he had never paid anything in settlement and did not know the attorney who represented him in that action. The inference was that the case was settled by an insurance company through its attorney on a report filed by Ehrlich following the accident.

A jury will be in attendance at court commencing Tuesday at 10 o'clock.

Harold Avery Struck by Auto

Harold Avery, the 12 year old son of Irving Avery of 51 Washington avenue, was injured about 6:40 o'clock Tuesday evening when the bicycle he was riding on Clinton avenue was struck by a Ford sedan driven by Sybil Schackel of R. F. D. No. 4. The youth was taken to the Kingston Hospital by Miss Schackel and an X-ray will be taken to determine the extent of his injuries. It is thought that he sustained a possible fracture of the skull.

In reporting the accident to the police department, Miss Schackel said that she was driving north on Clinton avenue and that the boy, riding a bicycle, was approaching in the opposite direction. She said the boy pulled to the left in the center of the street in front of her car. She stopped as quickly as possible. The boy lay under the car.

Special Sessions Of Ulster Classis

Accord Pastor Goes to Arabia and Call for New Pastor Approved—Installation at Shokan Church June 3—Missionary Festival at Mt. Marion June 21.

The Classis of Ulster recently held two special sessions, principally for the examination of candidates for the ministry. On May 17, Ernest Raymond Pelen, a member of the North Marlborough Reformed Church, a graduate of Kingston High School, Rutgers College and recently of New Brunswick Theological Seminary, was examined and accepted for licensure. Having accepted a call from a church (Johnstown) in the Classis of Montgomery, he was given a certificate of dismission to that body.

The Classis granted the joint request of the consistory and the minister of the Rochester Church of Accord, asking that the pastoral relation between the Rev. George Gosse-link and that church be dissolved, effective on July 22. Mr. Gosse-link is under appointment, with Mrs. Gosse-link, to the Arabian Mission of the Reformed Church in America, and expects to sail in September for their new field of labor. While regretting their loss in Mr. Gosse-link's leaving the pastorate, both church and Classis realize it is for the larger work that these friends are now to depart.

Shokan and Shandaken Pastor. The Shokan and Shandaken (Mt. Tremper) Reformed Churches having voted to call August Pfau, Jr., as their pastor, this call was brought to Classis and approved conditionally upon Mr. Pfau's presentation of a certificate of licensure.

On May 27, the Classis renewed their session and received Mr. Pfau upon certificate from the Classis of Newark, and examined him for ordination. The examination was entirely satisfactory and Mr. Pfau was approved for ordination. This service is to occur on Wednesday evening, June 5, at 8 o'clock daylight saving time, in the Shokan Church. The president of Classis, the Rev. Victor W. Simons of Gardiner, is to preside and read the form. The sermon is to be preached by the Rev. A. V. S. Wallace, D. D., of Flatbush Church; seconded by Rev. H. V. Decker of Hurler; the Rev. David Fales of Rutgers College, has been invited to give the charge to the pastor-elect, with the Rev. C. Van Tol, second; and the charge to the people is to be given by Rev. Wilbur F. Stowe, D. D., of Kingston, with the Rev. Edwin D. Miner of New Paltz, secondus.

Missionary Festival at Mt. Marion. The Classis heard the report of the missionary festival committee. This event is to occur on Friday, June 21, at the Plateau Church of Mt. Marion, with both morning and afternoon sessions. There will be inspiring and inspirational addresses by prominent missionary experts. The Ladies' Aid Society of the Mt. Marion Church will have charge of the refreshments. Offerings will be made for the missionary cause. The Rev. Messrs. Miner and Van Tol will be in charge of the music.

Rochester Church Call Approved. A call by the Rochester Church upon Student Ben Scholten of Boyden, Iowa, a graduate of Central College and New Brunswick Seminary, was read and approved conditionally. Classis adjourned.

The Revs. Edward Ton, John Neander and H. S. Van Woert are to go to Holland, Mich., next week to attend the general synod. It is expected that Elders Jesse Myers, Percy Abel and A. K. Enderlin will accompany their pastors.

Cherry Soda Must Get Flavor From Cherries

Albany, N. Y., May 29 (P).—Cherry soda must derive its flavor from cherries and not from some artificial or imitation flavor, according to a decision of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. The decision, made public today, resulted from action brought against the Superior Bottling Works of Buffalo by the State Department of Agriculture and Markets and constituted a reversal of a trial term verdict.

The department charged the beverage was misbranded by the use of a label stating it was "cherry soda" with "artificial flavor and color." It was argued the flavor was not that of cherry and that the designation "cherry soda" might be applied to a mixture of carbonated water, sugar and true cherry flavor, with or without a fruit acid.

Wisconsin Dry Law Repealer Signed. Madison, Wis., May 29 (P).—Governor Kohler today signed the bill repealing the state's prohibition enforcement act.

The Governor by signing the bill obeyed the mandate of the people who in an election this spring voted by a majority of nearly 150,000 for repeal. The bill was passed by the Assembly a month ago and two weeks ago by the Senate. Attempts to block passage failed in both houses.

Lindbergh Still In Seclusion

Efforts to Locate Flier and His Bride Are Unsuccessful—Colonel's Plane Taken to Schenectady, Perhaps as Bait.

New York, May 29 (P).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride, the former Anne Morrow, today continued in the seclusion which swallowed them up half an hour after their surprise marriage.

The couple disappeared when they drove out of the estate of the bride's father, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow at Englewood, N. J., shortly after the ceremony Monday afternoon. They have not been located since.

The nearest thing to a clue to their whereabouts was the colonel's Blue Falcon plane, which stood fueled at the Schenectady, N. Y., airport, where it was flown from Roosevelt Field, N. Y., yesterday. There were two parachutes aboard. The flight of the Lindbergh plane from Roosevelt Field, N. Y., to Schenectady was one of the incidents in yesterday's futile attempts to pick up the trail and, like others, it served more to deepen the mystery of the couple's whereabouts than to dissipate it.

Whether it was flown to the upstate airport for take-off on a honeymoon trip or was merely moved there to divert attention was a question.

Plane Made False Start. The plane arrived at Schenectady after one false start in which it returned to Roosevelt Field when unable to shake off a pursuing newspaper plane. Earlier in the day another Falcon plane had been delivered at the Schenectady airport by two unidentified fliers. The first plane was flown back to Roosevelt Field by Randy Enslow, a friend of Lindbergh's, who took the colonel's plane upstate.

Earlier the arrival of an Amphibian plane on the waters of Long Island Sound, near the estate of Harry Guggenheim, close friend of Lindbergh, started a rumor that the bride couple were at the Guggenheim home. Like other rumors it was not verified.

Another report had Colonel Lindbergh and his bride aboard the yacht of S. R. Guggenheim, but when the craft was located at anchor off the Columbia Yacht Club in the Hudson river, the quest turned to more likely leads.

Drunken Driver Was Fined $200

John Cunningham, 25, of Clifton Avenue, Helped Self to Another's Car—Finds Guilty to Serious Charge.

John Cunningham, 25 years old, of Clifton avenue, was arrested at 2 o'clock this morning on East Chester street by Policeman Charles J. Murphy, who charged Cunningham with driving a car while intoxicated. Cunningham was locked up in the cell block at the city hall and later in the morning was arraigned before Judge Shufeldt in police court. He faced the court on two charges, the more serious one of driving while intoxicated, and the other of operating a car without a license.

Cunningham pleaded guilty to both charges and was fined $200 for driving while intoxicated. In case the fine was not paid he was to serve one day in jail for each $5 of the fine not paid. On the other charge he was fined $15 but payment of the fine was suspended.

The car that Cunningham was driving at the time he was arrested was owned by John Cashin. Mr. Cashin had parked the car on Broadway and Cunningham had taken it without his permission. When the car was turned over to Mr. Cashin he found that several of the springs had been broken.

MAN DEAD IN ONEONTA HAD KINGSTON CARD IN POCKET

The police department received word from Oneonta Tuesday afternoon that a man who had registered at a hotel there under the name of William Freer of Albany had been found dead in his room. In the dead man's pocket was found a card bearing the name of W. Scott Blake-well of 27 West O'Reilly street. Inquiry at that address by the police developed that Blackwell, who had roomed there, had left Kingston about the first of the year.

Then came the planning of the coming year's program through reports of chairmen of special project committees and their recommendation as to the way to best undertake the particular work on which they were reporting. All of the projects presented in this way were accepted by enough of the county units so that they will be incorporated in the coming year's program.

Mrs. William Warren presented Landscaping and Home Furnishing. Home crafts, cane rush and rag sewing, drying, basketry, hook rugs, etc., was the project described by Mrs. Paltridge. Lamp shade making and refinishing old furniture were also included in the list of home crafts.

Mrs. E. J. Hunt offered a very clever outline for Food Preparation work, and Mrs. Skinner for Sewing.

Parachute Jump And Stunt Flying

The Kingston Airways with Bete Lindgren will thrill the aviation fans of Kingston on Memorial Day with another parachute jump and perhaps if the crowd warrants it, a bit of stunt flying. The airways management will hold Lindgren over the week end and he will jump each day if there are enough spectators at the field.

The Kingston Airways are enrolling more students for flying instructions and hope to enroll more before the flying season gets fully underway. Anyone wishing information will be given it at the field on request.

Lindgren, who is one of the leading parachute jumpers in the country, will not be seen here again as he is leaving for the west, where he is to be a demonstrator for a large parachute company, demonstrating their chute in all the principal cities in the country. If the company and Lindgren can come to terms it is expected that the trip will take at least six months. Lindgren having two planes for his demonstration purposes.

Since coming to Kingston he has made many friends and they will undoubtedly regret hearing of his departure.

County Court Convenes Monday

The June term of county court, the last term before the summer recess, will be convened Monday afternoon, June 3, at the court house with County Judge Joseph M. Fowler presiding.

A civil calendar of 11 cases makes up the causes for the term. There is considerable criminal work to be disposed of prior to the summer recess. District Attorney Frederick G. Traver has prepared a criminal calendar and this will be taken up and disposed of as rapidly as possible.

On account of the difficulty in securing jurors at this time of the year there will probably not be any long trial but such cases as need immediate attention will be disposed of. In cases where the defendants are in jail an effort is always made at the June term to dispose of such cases in order that no defendant be compelled to remain in jail during the long summer recess.

Tariff Revision Passed to Senate

Washington, May 29 (AP).—Tariff revision is now up to the senate, a task which is expected to occupy the finance committee most of the summer and consume several months of debate in the chamber afterward.

The house completed the major part of its work on the legislation late yesterday, passing by a vote of 264 to 147 the bill prepared by the Republican members of the ways and means committee to supplant the seven year old Fordney-McCumber act after adopting more than 100 amendments.

This measure, designed to give thousands of American agricultural and industrial products additional protection against foreign competition, will provide the basis for extensive hearings to be conducted during the summer by the senate finance committee. If the committee conforms to the history of tariff legislation, it will rewrite the bill and report it to the senate with many changes.

The O'Reilly building is occupied on the ground floor by the Torrey furniture house, while the two upper floors are fitted up as living apartments.

It is rumored that the building was purchased for the New York Telephone Company, but inquiry at the local office of the company today revealed the fact that nothing was known there of the transaction.

It is understood that possession of the building is to be given on August 1.

MEMORIAL DAY.

As year after year passes, and the tragic lessons of the World War still fail to bring international arrangements assuring peace, many grow discouraged.

Armaments are still great, by land and sea. Statesmen are still wrangling over war payments and making preparations for future war. Burdens are still heavy.

Jealousy, envy and hostility still exist among nations.

The millennium cannot come all at once. Human nature, long in the shaping, can be purified but slowly.
 Men in the mass are more primitive and subject to mob passions than men individually.

Peace ideals are growing stronger,
 but the political changes necessary
 to put them into effect are hard to make. Sound progress is slow.
 Everything in its time!

Meanwhile it is a great gain that while men and nations still talk war,
 there is no war. Such fighting as we have had in the last decade has been nearly all civil fighting to settle domestic problems—not international.
 Several quarrels that might have led to war have been calmed down
 by sensible friends, at Geneva, Washington and elsewhere. The longer peace is preserved, the safer grows
 the future. Peace tends to become a habit.

FLOODS

The rains have descended and the floods have come. Men and mule teams on a wide battle front are struggling to hold the swollen Mississippi within its banks. The Missouri and many tributary rivers are up.
 The Great Lakes, which a year or two ago were disastrously low, have risen
 a couple of feet this year over all their vast expanse, and are still rising, flooding docks and low-lying shoreland. It is abnormally wet throughout most of the country.
 Farm work is held back and great damage of many kinds is threatened.

And the scientists blame it all on the sun, which is usually thought of as drying up the rain rather than pouring it down. The explanation is that when there are unusually violent storms on the sun, showing themselves in spots on the solar surface, there are corresponding weather disturbances on the earth. The extra heat and electrical discharges set up air conditions that precipitate more moisture than usual. This is supposed to come about every 10 or 11 years. Just now the sun spots are approaching a maximum.

There must have been a lot of sunspots functioning at the time of Noah's deluge. And Noah evidently knew about them. In a half a dozen years, presumably, it will be dry
 again. The water levels will be low.
 People will assume as usual that they are going to remain low. And then, in another decade or so, we'll have these big floods again. It is hard to remember anything for ten years.

A six-year-old boy in Paintsville,
 Ky., has been solemnly tried in court
 and sentenced to spend the next 15
 years in a reformatory, for killing an eight-year-old playmate. It was a childish argument over a piece of old scrap iron. Little Carl cried,
 "I'll get dad's gun and blow your head off!" Which he did. The lad in court showed no realization of the seriousness of his offense. Now there is natural question whether the judgment is right and wise. Can a six-year-old really commit murder? Is he responsible? Will imprisonment and association with older and more hardened minors do him or society
 any good? Another and more insistent question might be raised.
 Why was that loaded gun ready to
 his hand, as if it were a plaything?
 What about the father who owned
 the gun and kept it there?

A citizens' committee in New York
 city, after studying the traffic situation, has recommended prompt changes in the zoning laws to permit the construction of "auto hotels"
 in central locations. An auto hotel is simply a many-storied garage in which many cars may be stored while owners go about their business or amusement in the great city, and
 from which the cars are withdrawn
 when it is time to drive home. Two types of garage are suggested, those in which a car is driven up a ramp
 on its own power to the door of which it is to be parked, and those in which automatic elevators take the cars up. The skyscraper garage provides large space in proportion to its ground area, and would eliminate street parking. It would still leave some phases of traffic congestion unsolved, if all patrons tried to go in and out at the same time.
 The last person to get his car out after a show in the evening would have time for a good nap before his chance to shoot down the ramp.

Lafadio Hearn, the brilliant Irish-
 Greek-American interpreter of Japan, would have been interested in the recent spelling contest held in Washington. It was won by an Irish girl from Omaha, after three hours of spirited spelling. And the winner of the third prize was a Japanese lad
 named Teru Hayashi from Atlantic City. Teru stood nobly through a fusillade of horrible polysyllables, but finally went down on "panacea." He could manage the genuine English words, and it wasn't fair to spring a Greek word like that on him. Is there any American who could do so well with Japanese?

CURING STOMACH ULCERS.

I find myself writing often about ulcers of the stomach and of first part of small intestine, that is the part
 into which the food passes from the stomach.

My reason for this is that many individuals are suffering from a small ulcer and are treating it as "indigestion."

Now my first suggestion is that these folks should see a doctor because his experience will enable him
 to diagnose an ulcer, as he will not only use test meals but also have an X-ray or barium meal taken.

If there is an ulcer he will likely put the patient on a soft diet and then use alkalies after each meal for a number of weeks.

He will perhaps have the patient
 rest for a few days and will put him
 on a diet of liquids or semi-solid foods such as soups, soft boiled eggs,
 smooth cereal with milk or cream.

However if the ulcer is severe the patient is put to bed and what is known as the Sippy treatment is often used.

There have been changes made, or variations of this treatment, but the main thought is soft food and alkaline powders.

There are just four points to watch. First that the patient rests quietly in bed; second that he gets his milk cream mixture practically every hour from 7 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening;
 third that he gets his alkaline powder one-half hour after every milk cream feeding, starting at 7:30 o'clock in the morning until 8:30 o'clock in the evening, with an hour's rest from them between 11:30 o'clock and 1:30 o'clock. This powder is a combination of carbonate of lime and baking soda; fourth the stomach
 contents are removed at 9:30 o'clock in the evening.

You can readily see that this requires a lot of patience on the part of the physician and patient but has been the means of healing many ulcers. The thought then is that if you have "indigestion" regularly, that you do not try to take "home treatment," but consult your doctor as to the possibility of ulcer.

Early medical treatment as above,
 will not only help to heal the ulcer
 but will give you relief from pain,
 and may prevent the need of an operation.

A MYSTERIOUS VISITOR

THE light came from an electric flash and we saw vaguely the figure of a man in the darkness
 behind him. But his face was invisible and his body was so distorted
 by the leaping shadows that I could not tell whether he was large or small. Nearer came the light and we backed still further into the tunnel. The man turned the beam
 on the auriferous wall, but instead of focusing it on the gold vein he ran it up and down the wall and over the floor beneath it, as if he were looking for something. When he had done this for several minutes he stepped through the break
 into the main tunnel and flashed
 the beam ahead of him over the walls and floor. The darkness became. Furtive, Mrs. Lundy, Dr.

 Hyde and Hammond. "I could not help summing up," I said.
 "Your field of investigation is wide-ranging, Henry. Shall you let him go?"

"He did not answer for a moment.
 Yes, I think so," he said wearily.
 "Where did you leave the car?"

"In one of the sheds at the mine.
 He won't see it unless he goes up
 there. What do you think his game is?"

"I don't know. Probably he was after the snuff-box. That couple hid it with Hyde. Neither of them would want it found here. The thing's got me baffled, John."

This delighted me. "An excellent state of mind," I said. "As soon as a man admits his fallibility he begins to get somewhere. What next?"

"San Felipe. I am going to work on Hyde, Hammond, and Mrs.
 Lundy."

"You haven't found her yet?"
 "No. Queer, isn't it? A woman in that get-up. She must have changed it or be lying low. We'll find her,
 of course. Are you coming with me?"

"Yes," I said. "I've had enough of Skull Valley for a while. I'll send a mechanic for my car. What about Furtive?"

"He'll be here when we want

Hammond the man who flashed into the man's face—Roy Hammond.

him. I doubt if he would survive anywhere but in the desert."

"As we made our way along the slash I dwelt silently on my own reasons for wanting to return home. My desire to see the children and to hear Jerry account for his extraordinary flight to Skull
 Valley was not the least of them.
 You may be sure. And I don't think I ever longed for anything
 quite so much as I did for the sound of their voices and the sight of their eager faces. And then, also,
 I wanted to relate my experiences to MacNair. How would his brutally logical mind interpret them to me? Yes, I had a good deal to look forward to.

Neither Furtive nor Hammond was in sight when we emerged into the canyon, but as we came out into the open desert I caught the flash of a windshield on the trail which led across the valley. Deacon had seen it, too.

"That'll be Hammond," he said.
 I nodded. "He's not going by Pitchfork. I'll bet he didn't come by it, either."

Wheel tracks were visible in the gravel at our feet and it was evident that Hammond hadn't gone up to the mine.

"Probably he doesn't know we are here," Deacon grunted.

The sun was just over and over
 and by the time we reached the mine buildings Deacon was mumbling profanely and mopping his face with a sopping handkerchief. He found nothing in the abandoned
 plant that interested him, and when we had each eaten a couple of sandwiches and refreshed ourselves of the warm water in the canteen, we set off. As Jerry's annels were in the back seat there was no need to stop at Torridity
 and I was mighty glad to see the last of its huddle of buildings vanish over my shoulder, for the town
 had come nearer than I liked to burying my old bones.

A crackling in my pocket reminded me of the newspaper we had found in the mine tunnel and I carefully spread it out before me.

THE FULL-SIZE TWO-DOOR SEDAN, $775

PLYMOUTH

Looks Quality—Acts Quality

-- Is Quality

THERE are people to whom Plymouth's big attraction is its Chrysler-designed smartness.

Some people buy the full-size Plymouth largely because it is so unusually roomy and comfortable—by far the largest and roomiest car to be had at anywhere near its price.

To other people, the main reason for buying Plymouth is Plymouth's impressive power—its amazing pick-up, its unflinching stamina, its delightful smoothness and flexibility.

Still other people choose Plymouth primarily because it is so safe to drive, with its perfect balance and stability and the positive control of its Chryslerweather-proof internal-expanding four-wheel hydraulic brakes.

Withal, the Chrysler-built Plymouth is a phenomenally low-priced car—and one extremely economical to operate.

Whatever special reasons people may have in buying Plymouth, they are one and all conscious of Plymouth's unapproachable quality.

With its new refinements and inherent engineering improvements, the full-size

PLYMOUTH has been so named because of its endurance and strength, ruggedness and freedom from limitations so accurately typified that stalwart Pilgrims band who were among the first American Colonists.

Plymouth demonstrates a standard of performance and offers a measure of quality and value, entirely without precedent or parallel in the low-priced field.

Corp. 1929 Roadster (with special paint) $575; 4-Door Sedan, $775; Touring, $895; De Luxe Convertible (with special paint) $995; 4-Door Sedan, $895. All prices f. o. b. factory. Plymouth delivery cannot be guaranteed in some parts.

Washington—A 14-inch gun, weighing with its mount 730,000 pounds, is to be sent from the proving ground at Aberdeen, Md., to the Pacific at San Francisco. The trip, starting June 10, will test the ability of transcontinental roads to move heavy ordnance.

Douglas, N. Y.—Stolen, one hole golf green, the fifth at the North Hills Club, consisting of 300 square feet of mitty sod. It vanished during the night. By truck wheels it was traced to a cemetery, which had purchased it from the thieves. The replacement cost is $2,444.

Philadelphia—Babe Ruth intends to put himself in a corner. He has paid $5 for a second's license, in order to be with his friend Jimmy Byrnes when the latter battles George Godfrey.

New York—In a swan song Mike McTigue has revealed his age. Knocked out finally, the veteran who has long camouflaged his years, has written a letter telling in a postscript that he is in his 45th year. The letter says that should he be fortunate enough to have sons, boxing will be their most important training.

Cambridge, Mass.—For the third time since last November, John A. Outley of Waverly, Neb., student at Harvard Law School, has obtained a license to marry Miss Ruth Miller of Bellwood, Pa., senior at Boston University. He returned the first two licenses without explanation.

Defining Magnetism

Magnetism is defined as "the power of attraction, electrically speaking." It means that the molecules of a magnetizable body have their axes parallel, thus making a closed electric current around each body.

Magnet Construction

Permanent magnets may be made of cast iron, of steel carrying anywhere from 3 to 15 per cent of carbon, or from alloy steel containing carbon as well as certain other metals.

THE MONTH IN THE SKIES

June: Midnight Sun

Photographs of the midnight sun taken by Dr. Donald B. MacMillan, explorer, as the sun was making the lowest part of its circuit above the north horizon.

By ROBERT H. BAKER
(Professor of Astronomy, University of Illinois)

Urbana, Ill. (AP)—June is the most favorable month to see the midnight sun for those who live or travel far enough north.

On the twenty-second of the month the sun rises and sets, in the United States, farthest north of the east and west points of the horizon and remains in view for the longest time. It is the date of the summer solstice.

As we travel north the sun rises and sets still farther north and is visible for a longer time until a latitude is reached at which it does not set at all. In those regions in the far north, such as parts of Alaska and Norway, the sun remains in view even at midnight, when it can be seen exactly above the north point of the horizon. On this account it is called the midnight sun.

Owing to the earth's rotation on its axis from west to east, the celestial bodies seem to move across the sky daily in parallel circles from east to west. Those that rise exactly in the east describe the greatest circle of all, of which just half is above the horizon.

Stars that rise farther north describe smaller and smaller circles; and more and more of the circle is above the horizon; until finally in the northern sky we find stars whose daily courses are entirely above the horizon.

Astronomers call them circumpolar stars, because they go round and round the pole without setting. In the latitude of New York the Little Dipper is circumpolar, and most of the Big Dipper is circumpolar as well.

The north celestial pole, which is the center of the daily courses of the celestial bodies, is marked roughly by the Pole Star, or North Star. This is the star Polaris at the end of the handle of the Little Dipper.

It is easy to prove the rule that the north celestial pole is as many degrees above the north horizon as the number of degrees in the latitude of the observer. Thus in New York, where the latitude is about 40 degrees, the pole is elevated 40 degrees; and this is the radius of the circular region of the sky in which the stars never set.

As we go north the pole rises, and so the cap of circumpolar stars grows larger until, in the summer, it finally includes the sun, which is 23½ degrees north of the equator on June 22, and therefore 66½ degrees from the celestial pole.

In order to see the midnight sun we must go as far north in June as latitude 66½ degrees—that is, to the arctic circle. There it can be seen for a day or two. Still farther north the midnight sun is visible for a long time. At the north pole the sun remains in view for six months.

State Aid for County Forests

New Counties Can Profit by the New Law—Conservation Department Preparing Publication to Show in Detail Provisions of New Legislation.

Albany, May 29.—Conservation Commissioner Alexander Macdonald has sent the following letter to the chairmen of boards of supervisors calling their attention to the new law providing for state aid to counties in planting forests and telling them how the counties may apply for state aid:

"Provision for substantial financial aid to be given by the State to the counties for reforestation is contained in Chapter 194 of the laws of 1929, which became effective March 25th.

"The purpose of this letter is to call this legislation to your attention and an extra copy of the letter is enclosed for the Chairman of the Forestry Committee of your Board if you have such a committee.

"Space is not available in this letter to dwell upon the advantages of the reforestation of idle lands. Moreover, we believe these advantages are generally recognized by thinking people throughout the state. Nearly every county contains abandoned farm lands which are not paying their way, and which reforestation can convert from a liability into an asset.

"The enlarged program of reforestation contemplates extended activity on the part of the state in reforesting lands now owned or hereafter acquired by the state; but the participation of the counties in this movement is essential if we are to get 100 per cent results. Several counties have already realized this and have appropriated money for establishing county forests. The new law provides that within certain limits and under certain conditions the state will contribute funds to increase appropriations made by the county for this work, so that now is a particularly favorable time for your county to start a forest project, or if you have already done so to extend materially your present program.

"One point which must be emphasized is the desirability of getting low priced land for county forests. If county forests are to be operated at a profit they must be established on cheap land. Much depends on holding down the initial costs of establishing a forest plantation.

"The Conservation Department has in preparation a bulletin showing in detail the provisions of the reforestation legislation. Moreover, the Department will prepare blanks upon which counties may apply to the Conservation Department for state aid. This letter is written you in the meantime so that your board may have this matter under consideration during the next few months and be in a position to appropriate funds during the coming fall, to be used as an offset against state contributions which you may request for 1930.

"Should you want any further information about this matter or assistance in organizing your project I will be glad to help you all I can. Very truly yours,

ALEXANDER MACDONALD,
Commissioner.

By W. G. HOWARD,
Superintendent, Lands and Forests.

ROSENDALE.

Rosendale, May 29.—Anyone who cares to go to Binnewater Chapel on Thursday evening to the prayer and praise service should be at the Reformed Church at 7:30 o'clock, where automobiles will be in waiting to take them. Everybody welcome to go to this service.

Mrs. Florence Simmons, who has been at the Baptist parsonage the past few weeks disposing of her household goods, returned to the Home for the Aged in Kingston on Saturday.

Mrs. Alice Tilson, who has been ill, has so far recovered as to be around the house and also taking short auto rides.

Mrs. Charles Ten Hagen visited relatives at New Paltz the past week end.

Several residents of this village have been suffering with sore throats the past week. Among them were Harold Henze, Mrs. Harry Wesp and Mrs. Harry Ten Hagen.

Mrs. Mary Snyder returned home on Thursday last after spending several weeks with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Annie Snyder, at Ridgewood, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Snyder visited their son, William, over the week end at Schenectady.

Mrs. Bertha Hasbrouck and daughter, Lavonia, who spent the winter at the home of Mrs. Mary Snyder, have returned to their home on James street.

Some time during Saturday night thieves entered the silk mill and got away with over $600 worth of

Mrs. Alan Mackenzie has returned home from a delightful trip to Atlantic City.

The many friends in this place of Mrs. Charlotte Osterhout are sorry to hear of her serious illness at the home of her son in Poughkeepsie. ## STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, May 29.—The sermons delivered in the M. E. Church by the Rev. Mr. Hunt of Kingston during the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Harder, were much appreciated by all who attended the service. Last Sunday he closed his work at Stone Ridge with a very interesting sermon in which he gave tribute to Memorial Sunday and in a very able manner explained the necessity of the minister being backed by a united band of helpers whose hearts have been touched by God. The Rev. C. Harder and wife are expected to arrive in Stone Ridge on Saturday, June 1. He is to take up the pastorate of the M. E. Church. The Rev. Mr. Harder will deliver the morning message at 10:30, standard time.

Mrs. F. Best is starting a beginners' Sunday school class for children under six years of age. All children of this age are urged to be present next Sunday.

Miss Bessie Krom will entertain at her home the Builders and Queen Esther for their regular business meeting Saturday, June 1.

The members and constituents of the Cottekill and Atwood churches are invited to unite with the Stone Ridge M. E. congregation at the church on Tuesday, June 4, at 7:30 p. m., to give a reception for the Rev. Mr. Harder and wife. Donations of flowers for decorations will be appreciated.

One new case of measles is reported in the village, that of Edward Beatty.

Happiness is in wanting something and working to get it.

what comes after the oratory

Frederick the Great once wrote to the Duchess of Gotha: "Heaven is on the side with the biggest battalions."

Paraphrasing the epigram, coined by this celebrated military genius, we might say that sometimes in selling automobiles, "Heaven is on the side with the biggest adjectives."

With the support of a heavy barrage of superlatives, even a weak car may take a customer by storm.

But the real test comes after the oratorical barrage has lifted and the car must try to live up to the oratory—when it must speak for itself.

Then is the time when you are sure to find the Chrysler-built De Soto Six pointing proudly to a record that more than substantiates every claim made in its behalf, while its price-rivals are apologizing for extravagant promises unfulfilled.

Already we have abundant proof that a De Soto Six, after 40,000 miles, retains its good looks, its alert, smooth power, and its easy-riding qualities—that its low operating and maintenance costs contribute real economy of ownership.

And we are confident of an equally impressive history when De Sotos shall have reached the 100,000 mile mark—and indefinitely beyond.

Anne Tonetti at Elverhoj Theatre

ANNE TONETTI, one of Broadway's best known character actresses, will come east from California in a few days to begin rehearsing for her work as a guest player with the Elverhoj Theatre which opens an eight weeks' subscription season at Milton-on-the-Hudson June 17. Miss Tonetti is a daughter of Francoise Tonetti, the famous sculptor whose work is now in the Rockefeller gardens. She received her early education in Europe, going there at the age of 12 to study for four years in Isadora Duncan's school. For a year she played with Yvette Guilbert in Paris and she was also with Margaret Anglin in the original production here of "Cyrano". She is a graduate of Miss Chapin's School.

Miss Tonetti followed Beniah Bondi, the famous landlady of "Street Scene", in the role of the boarding house keeper in Maxwell Anderson's "Saturday's Children". Miss Tonetti played the role on Broadway and on the road. Previously she was with Katherine Cornell for two years in "The Green Hat", with Blanche Bates in "Mrs. Partington Presents", with Fay Bainter in several productions and with the Theatre Guild. She has also played summers with the Stuart Walker and Jessie Bonstelle companies, two of the greatest stock organizations in the world.

The resident company at Elverhoj is headed by Arthur Strom from the Boston Repertory Company, Richard Skinner from "The Wild Duck", Ben Starkie from "Young Alexander", Sara Stamm, executive secretary of the Actors Theatre, New York, and Ann Davenport Seymour from "Mr. Moneybags", grand-niece of Fanny Davenport.

This cleaner prevents ring-around-the-bathtub

Soft water you must have before you can clean anything. See that dirty ring around the bathtub. Remove it with Melo, because Melo, water and soap are wonderful cleaners. Melo makes soap do more work, because Melo makes hard water soft. It gives a delightful, soft water bath too. It prevents the dirty ring from forming. It saves from 1/4 to 1/2 the amount of soap ordinarily used. Even without soap Melo is a very effective cleaner. Get Melo at your grocer's.

Myron Hoffman of Gardiner has a position at the Jewett farms. Friends of Miss Ruth Belknap, a former student at the Normal, gave her a surprise party at her home in Monroe, Orange county, Saturday. The guests included the Misses Marion Stevenson, Margaret Burns, Louise Gaunt, from Monroe, Lois Morris of Tonkers, Marion Taylor and Helen Taylor from Harriman. The afternoon was spent playing bridge. Prizes were awarded to Lois Morris and Marion Stevenson. These girls were all at the New Palitz Normal when Miss Belknap attended. Miss Beatrice DuBois was a guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Earl, in Gardiner on Monday. The Women's Foreign Mission Society of the Methodist Church will meet with Mrs. Peter Ean instead of Mrs. Vail on Friday afternoon, May 31, at 2:30. Miss Grace Jefferson, a missionary in South Carolina, will appear.

On Tuesday of the past week the three sorority houses held formal invitation affairs at the respective houses. Last week one "rush" party was given by each of the sisterhoods followed by pledgings upon the following evening. This very quiet "rushing" was mainly for the purpose of filling the houses for next year.

Nicest Auto Ride

Dessa had the toothache. She had been troubled in the same way only a few times before in her thirteen years. This time she came home from school crying and her mother promptly took her to see the dentist. He said the tooth had been neglected too long and must come out, advising that she take gas. Telling Dessa to "be a fine brave girl," mother stepped out into the waiting room, while the dentist and anesthetic went into action. In what seemed but a few seconds, the door opened and the dentist announced smilingly "All over." Dessa sat up, blinking, as mother took her hand and asked, "Did it hurt much, honey?" "Well," said Dessa, "it kept right on aching until the epidemic took effect, and then I had the nicest automobile ride."

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

The Tattered, Season-Knowledgeable Jacket Costume.

New York.—The holiday season is at hand, with all it implies by way of town and country clothes, travel clothes and camping outfits. One always needs a practical suit or jacket costume which may involve a blouse and that this tucks in under the belt is a foregone conclusion. Tweeds remain dear to the traveler, and certain jersey ensembles are a fixture. The jacket and skirt idea is carried out in so many fabrics, that each and every woman will find some sort of jacket costume appropriate to her needs. There are even gingham ensembles, and plenty of linen ones. Gingham as well as tweed patterns are borrowed for other materials, there being more than a hint of plaids in the air. It is far too early to give even a thought to fall of course, but it is pertinent to know that fur trimmed suits have not only been rumored, but that travelers returning from Paris are wearing them even now. It is also noticed that belts are placed almost if not quite at the normal waistline. The flannel shirt and the flannel jacket suit must also be taken seriously as summer fads.

Brown has forged ahead in sports fields, navy and some dark reds being also particularly smart just now. Because of the tremendous vogue for costume jewelry, it is believed that flat fabrics will remain in favor, their dull surfaces making a better foil for jewelry. Naturally wooden jewelry which is the newest, is most appropriate for sports and travel costumes.

On Rearing Children

from CHILD TO COLLEGE

Compiled by the Editors of "CHILDREN," The Magazine for Parents

There is no period in the entire life history of an individual that is so full of potential possibilities as the period under five years of age. Here we have the time of most rapid development both mental and physical, the time when habits do not have to be changed before new ones can be learned, the time when the child is more definitely affected by his environment than he will ever be again. It is the age of plasticity, the age when we have in our hands the most malleable of material, the age of eager wondering and implicit belief. A clean slate. May the writing we trace upon it be worthy!

An important part of dental hygiene is the care of the tooth brush. Tooth brushes, ordinarily kept, are none too sanitary. Cleanliness is a necessary second to preventive work. A tooth brush should be washed in hot water after each using, dried and hung in the sun. It should be suspiciously watched at all times to see that it is as clean as the tooth it brushes.

The power of selecting clothes which one will enjoy doesn't come except through exercise of choice and development of taste. It is a result of learning how in the years when one learns how to do everything. Anything which we do well, the psychologists tell us, we must start in early years. All of us know women who go through agonies of indecision whenever they buy anything to wear. They are the bane of department stores. They spend one day buying and the next exchanging what they have bought. This lack of the power of decision comes out of a sense of inferiority just as much when it applies to dress as when it applies to the more serious affairs. One can't begin too early to give a girl confidence in her own judgment so that she may make decisions that satisfy her when she is grown.

Whenever a house is being looked over for safety's sake, the stairs come to the foreground for consideration. They need to be well lighted, as do all other parts of the home. A switch at the head and foot of the stairways is an excellent investment. Children can be taught when quite young to make use of the lighting facilities. The buttons which control the lights should be placed low enough for children to reach. With the basement steps another precaution may be taken. They may be painted a light color, so that the steps may stand out and can be seen easily during the twilight hours and on cloudy days. Light gray paint is a happy choice, as it does not show soil readily.

All children's parties should be as simple as possible, as to food, favors and entertainment, and should be so short that the children depart before the period of unruly behavior, almost certain to follow excitement, sets in. A dish of ice cream and a clean frock should make a party up to the age of twelve or thirteen, at least, and these parties should never be expensive or elaborate or large.

There cannot be any set formula for child care. As a working method we suggest prevention rather than cure. A better understanding of our children's needs and temperaments will dispense many of the beguiling of temporary fruits and fillings. But from my own experience with modern parents and their children I would like to emphasize the fact that a fitful judgment is often far safer than worried overcaution.

Let the children sit on a dry blanket when they are stringing beads or cutting paper. The blanket can be shaken out of the window when they are through and the room will be in order.

Westvans Nose Out P. O. - Apollo, 7 to 6

Although oozing, 12-11, the Westvans-Snyder-Snyder moved out the Post-office-Apollo, 7-6, in a real slugfest Tuesday evening at the Athletic Field and extended their winning streak to three games. Johnny Carpenter's single in the last inning sent "Punch" Snyder across the rubber with the winning run. Snyder was on second base by virtue of a two-base hit at the time Carpenter hit.

The game was interesting from start to finish and it was not until Jack Robins flied out in the last inning that the winner was decided. The lead changed hands throughout the contest.

Each one of the Polos except Robins hit safely at least once. Davitt, Glaser, Johnson, Wheeler and Mable getting two to swell their batting averages. Williams, Carpenter, Cassidy and Bush were the sluggers of the Westvans.

George Bush was the winning pitcher, but it was only after a real struggle. His teammates had to come to his rescue in most every inning. Jack Robins, his opponent, also had a tussle to last to the end, being in danger most of the time.

Baker's single and Williams' double gave the Westvans the first run in the first inning. The Polos retaliated in their half by scoring three. Carpenter's error put Crispell on first base. He stole second and tallied on Schwab's double. A wild pitch sent Schwab to third, scoring a moment later on Glaser's single to center field. Glaser denied the rubber on Johnson's single after he stole second and went to third on Cassidy's error.

A walk to Lay, Cassidy's single and Bush's double put the Westvans on even terms with the Polos in the second, but it wasn't for long as the Polos scored one in their half.

The Westvans took the lead for the first time in the third inning. Leski was given a walk, stole second, advanced to third on Wheeler's wild throw over second, and scored on Carpenter's double. Lay sent Carpenter home with the run to break the tie. Once again the score was tied when Johnson hit a double and scored on Mable's single.

The deadlock was broken again in the fourth. Bush singled, stole second, took third on an infield out and scored on Williams' sacrifice fly to Mable in right field. The Westvans held the lead until the fifth and then it was deadlocked again.

Bush was in grave danger in this inning. He allowed two walks and two hits, but through some good fielding by his teammates only one run was scored, three of the Polos being stranded on the bags.

The Polos had another good opportunity to win the game in the sixth inning, but three hits went to waste when Glaser, who was on third base, was hit by Jordan's grounder and Wheeler and Jordan were left waiting on the bases.

After Snyder scored in the seventh inning the Polos were helpless before Bush's slants. He fanned Crispell and Davitt and made Robins pop out to Leski.

SEDLINERS.

Ralph Williams' pretty catch in the first inning robbed Robins of his only semblance of a hit.

"Boots" Leski looked like his old self once again, making some nice plays at short stop.

Johnson has all the boys guessing with his hitting. He poled a double and a single.

The loss just about eliminates the Postoffice-Apollo for honors in the first half. Only a miracle can put them in the running.

Albany Crescents Vs. Pan-Ams Here On Memorial Day

It is forecast that the Pan-Ams winning streak, which has netted the team four consecutive wins, will be broken on Memorial Day, when the oldmen face the Albany Crescents, composed of several former semipro, ex-collegians and minor leaguers. The scene of battle will be the Saugerties road diamond.

In the team from the capital district, where it is rated as one of the best, the Pan-Ams will face such men as Dave Clark, who formerly played with the Bonackers of Rensselaer; Nels Colket of the D. & H. Generals; Jim Haber, former Union College star, and Frank Haber, last year's third sacker for the Delmars of Albany. All these men will take care of the infield. Most of them are known here, having played at the Fair Grounds against the old Colonials.

The outfield will be made up of Pete O'Connor, former New England Leaguer; Tom Shepard, ex-Holy Cross player and Joe Mott, Coxackie's former star fielder. Utility men will be Jack Lawlor, a Colgate man; Jake Singelmer, formerly with the Grogans of Albany and Sid McElroy, Albany semi-pro.

Clayton Welch will receive the slants of either "Lefty" Harrington or Clyde Russell, both of whom are well known here. The former likely will start the game as Russell has been doing more coaching than pitching this season. However, his arm is in shape for the boxman's task, it is said.

Carpenter and Celuch will be ready to take the mound for the Pan-Ams with Hoffman and McGuire prepared to don the big glove.

All-Stars Play At Millbrook

Kingston All-Stars will open their season against Millbrook on Memorial Day. The down river club is by no means a weak club, having downed all the best semi-pro teams in this section.

The All-Stars will start off tomorrow with the fastest club that ever wore the All-Star name. The lineup will be as follows: Joyce, 1b; Davitt, 2b; Leski, ss; Glaser, 3b; Smedes, c; Schwab, Moore, Knight and Quinn, outfielders; Van Buren, Volker and Winslow, pitchers.

The locals are all booked up until the latter part of July with some of the best semi-pro clubs, including Great Barrington, Comstock, Englewood, N. J., Orange, N. J., Oneonta and St. Johnsville.

Memorial Day Baseball Games

Local teams are scheduled to play on Memorial Day as follows:

Colonials vs. Mohawk Colored Giants, in double-header at the Kingston Fair Grounds.

Pan-Ams vs. Albany Crescents at the Saugerties road diamond.

Clermonts vs. Koenig Kandy Kids at Hasbrouck Park.

Rondout A. C. vs. Fro-Joys at Newburgh.

Kingston All-Stars vs. Millbrook at Millbrook.

Home-run Hitter With Colonials

Freddie Wetmore, manager of the Colonials, stated today that Frank Miller, home-run catcher from Norwalk, Conn., would be with the Colonials on Memorial day. Miller last year hit 19 home runs, 27 two-base hits and 11 three-base hits beside his singles. He will make a wonderful addition to the club.

Wetmore expects to win both games tomorrow and then go after the Brooklyn Giants on Sunday.

TWO GAMES THIS WEEK FOR RED SOX BALL CLUB

The Red Sox have two road games booked for this week, one with the New Palts All-Stars, Memorial Day and the other with the Gardiner A. C. Sunday. Hard fighting will have to be done by the Sox in both contests for their opponents are playing good ball.

Sacpeys or Van Etten will toss 'em to the New Paltsers in opposition to Pete Mitchell. At Gardiner Stan Colvin or Bill MacDaniels will be in the box for the Kingstonians. Who the Sox will bat against has not been announced.

The rest of the Red Sox lineup will be picked from the following players: Hoffman and Thorne, catchers; Krum, first base; Mills, second; "Snappy" Dawkins, short; Snyder, third; Corvin, Atkins, Bushman, regular outfielders and Rice, Dawkins, R. Ledlike, Jordan and Fisher, reserves, will be ready to fill in assignments.

At New Palts the game will start at 2:30 p. m. The Red Sox will leave from the central postoffice at 1 o'clock. Every player is requested to be on hand promptly.

RONDOUT BATTERS EASILY SOLVE "CANNONBALL" LEE.

"Cannonball" Lee, who pitched a no-hit, no-run game at Red Hook Sunday, was no puzzle to Manager Artie Golnek's Rondout A. C. players, who touched him for 22 bingles at Block Park Tuesday night, winning from the East Kingston Golden Rods, 13-4.

While the Rondouts were trimming the Golden Rods in preparation for a meeting with the Fro-Joys at Newburgh Memorial Day, much attention was centered on the hurling of Bob "Lefty" Corregan, who tossed them to the colored boys as a tryout before Manager Golnek. The Rondout mentor sees hopes of using Corregan to pull the team out of tight places in the future.

Corregan, who relieved Peters in the fourth inning, allowed the Golden Rods but four hits in three innings during which time the colored boys added two runs to the pair they had collected off Peters in the third inning.

The Rondouts hope to overtake the Fro-Joys at Newburgh Memorial Day with Joe Coughlin and Dullin as the battery. The rest of the team is in good form and the ice cream boys will have to go some to stay with the Golnekmen.

Sunday will be a big day at Block Park for the Rondouts and Koenig All-Stars will come together in their second game of the season then. The Kandy Kids won the first game, 5-4 in a 10-inning fight.

Freeman Loses To Jack Kelly

"Big" Bill Freeman, colored soldier of West Point, lost the heavyweight championship of the New York National Guard to Jack Kelly of New York city, Thursday night, when the latter scored a technical knockout in the second round at the 22nd Engineers armory, New York city. Freeman got careless in the second and Kelly ducked under his guard and landed a punch on the button. Freeman weighed 184, Kelly 178.

The colored giant's defeat came as a big surprise to the fans, who expected to see him put Kelly away in the same manner that he has been doing with most of his opponents. Freeman won the championship from Roscoe Hall at White Plains.

Manager Ertef of the Clermonts has assigned Jack Duan to pitch, while Nick Huber will be on the Koenig's hill. It is expected. Both hurlers have their many whips in good condition so batters will have to be more than careful how they swing.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By WILLIAM J. CHAPMAN, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

This mad rush of the Pirates has carried them past the last barrier, leaving the Buccaneers on even terms with the Cubs who now invade Pittsburgh to fight for the lead in a three-game holiday series.

Chasing a sensational month in which Pittsburgh has moved at a rate just better than .750, young Ervin Brame led the Pirates to a 5 to 3 triumph over Clarence Mitchell and the Cardinals in St. Louis yesterday as the Cubs lay idle in a Cincinnati rain storm. This cleaned up the St. Louis series of four games, and gave the Pirates seven in succession and seventeen out of the last twenty-two.

The victory left the Buccaneers locked tight with the Bruins for the lead, one and one-half games ahead of the Cardinals, who have lost three games more than either of their current pennant rivals. The Pirates rise can be traced to the batting improvement shown by Paul Wagner and Pittsburgh pitchers have developed for finishing their own games. In the last twenty-two contests, thirteen complete games have been turned in by Bush's boxmen, twelve of them victories.

The Pirates, the Cardinals and the Cubs remain the only National League clubs above the .500 mark, despite the new lease of life taken by the Giants. The Clax-McGraw put on another home run party at the Polo Grounds yesterday, defeating Brooklyn, 5 to 3. Ott, Roush and Lindstrom overmatched home runs by Hendrick and Gilbert of the Robins as Carl Mays turned in his first complete game since becoming a Giant last August. Ott's drive was his eleventh, giving him the inter-league leadership.

The Phillies, who stand some ten games higher than most observers thought they would stand at this stage of the race, again took the Braves into camp, this time by 9 to 8.

The American League campaign for the crown saw the Yankees regain a bit of ground they have been losing so steadily to the Athletics.

The Red Sox rallied against Rube Walberg and Bill Shores at Boston yesterday to shade the Marks, 5 to 4, ending the Marks' streak at eleven. The Yankees clubbed four Washington pitchers for sixteen hits to triumph by 12 to 7.

Unmindful of their more highly regarded rivals, the Browns accepted their opportunity to gain on the Athletics by beating the Tigers in Detroit, 4 to 2. Sammy Gray pitched another smart game and never was in serious difficulty. The combination of events left the Browns just two and one-half games from the lead, but they still had lost four games more than the Athletics.

The Yankees again were burdened with spotty pitching, and defeated the Senators only because they themselves clubbed Hadley, Hopkin, Brown and Burke harder than the Washington swatmen's raked Wells and Heinemann. Wells, making his first start as a Yankee, was unable to hold an eight-run lead, and relief had to be called.

Danny Dugan made his first Major League start at Comiskey Park, but the bats of Cleveland's Indians were too much for him, and the White Sox were turned back, 5 to 2.

Answers Given Moot Golf Query

Jones and Hagen in Action.

The moot question, What is the most important shot in golf? has produced a number of different answers, all interesting and a couple of them clever.

Willie Park, a grand putter, said: "The man who can putt is a match for anybody."

To which Harry Vardon replied: "The man who can pitch doesn't need to putt."

And one witty sophist dodged the issue by saying that the most important shot in golf is always "the next one."

"The drive is the most important shot," said Walter Hagen. "It makes every other shot easier and harder."

This is essentially a reasonable verdict, especially in these latter days of gargantuan courses, with the second shot depending almost exclusively on the long and accurate whallop off the tee.

"You must reach the green before you can begin putting," is Bobby Jones' support of Sir Walter's theory; and if anybody should know the importance of the drive it is Bobby, especially since the United States open championship of 1928 at Olympia fields. His failure to win the championship, and, indeed, to win it by from two to eight strokes, is directly attributable to his inability in that tournament to keep his tremendous and usually accurate tee-shots in the fairway.

The long and accurate drive makes all the difference between a pitch to the green and a hard iron or a spoon shot, sometimes from a disadvantageous position, on many of the two-shot holes which nowadays constitute the potent factor of our championship courses. On the popular holes of 400 to 450 yards, a fine drive leaves a pitch or a medium iron, where a short or partly missed drive means a poke with the longer irons or a desperate bang with the wood.

Two-thirds of a modern championship course is built on the drive with the wood.

Ray Schmandt, former Brooklyn first baseman, is now playing with Canton in the Central league.

Ablene of the West Texas league has released Charley Martin, Russell Shamburg, and A. J. Wedel, pitchers.

W. C. Comstock, well known minor league outfielder, has joined the Martinsburg club of the Blue Ridge league.

Henry Boney, rookie pitcher, has been sent to Bridgeport of the Eastern league by the Giants. This is a Giant farm.

"Monk" Younger, coach of the Davidson college baseball team, believes he has a stellar pitcher this spring in Doc Kugler.

Pitcher Ken Penner, who was with Houston last season, made his start for Indianapolis on April 10 and held Milwaukee to four hits.

But one tried veteran, Capt. Cal Macomber, is a member of the University of Vermont baseball team, the remainder being new talent.

Heinie Meine, righthanded pitcher purchased from Kansas City during the winter, has finally made terms with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Expect Crowd at Armory Bouts

According to ticket sales there will be a large assemblage of fight fans at the armory Friday night to see the 32 rounds of National Guard boxing bouts.

Many fans are setting their caps to see Nick Zinna put up one of the best fights of his career after being out of the ring for some time. He kept in training by light workouts, which he has lately turned into strenuous sessions in preparation for K. O. Eddie Reilly of New York.

He realizes that he will have to be in the best of shape for his tilt with Reilly, who is doing some good work in New York rings. The knockout artist is a boy who got his start in the Golden Gloves tournaments and besides being quite clever has a punch that makes opponents respect him.

The other 10-round fracs will be put on by Mickey McVeigh of Newburgh and Joe Marino of New York. Joe Marino meeting Jack Speers and Frenchy Duwig against Willie Martin of Troy makes up the two six-rounders.

According to Captain E. C. Lawson, Jack Daley of Roseville and Bill Singer of this city, who seem to be the two men most popular as judges, will hand out the decisions in company with a referee to be assigned by the National Guard boxing commission.

Sam Ribber, Kingston's Joe Humphries, who was absent from the last boxing shows held in the armory, will be back on the job Friday night. It is expected. Undoubtedly he will get a big hand for his well adapted voice and suited manner have been missed by the fans.

Sickly Boy, 7, Gains 15 Lbs.—Father Happy

"My boy, 7, would not eat. I gave him Vinol and the way he eats and plays now makes me happy. He gained 15 pounds," said J. F. Andres.

Vinol is a delicious compound of cod liver peptone, iron, etc. The very first bottle often adds several pounds weight to thin children or adults. Nervous, easily tired, anemic people are surprised how Vinol gives new pep, sound sleep and a BIG appetite. Tastes delicious. McBride Drug Stores.

Heinie Meine, righthanded pitcher purchased from Kansas City during the winter, has finally made terms with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Counting in exhibition games and semi-pro games, 700,000 fans have passed through the gates at Birmingham in the last two years.

Ed Crowley, trying out for third base with Baltimore, is the same Crowley that played end for Georgia Tech. The Griffs gave him a trial.

Brooklyn has taken on Joe Bradshaw, big righthanded pitcher, who served with Wilkes-Barre in the New York-Pennsylvania league last season.

Pacific coast experts are singing the praises of Frank Crosetti, young infielder with San Francisco, and say he is sure to go to the majors this year.

Pat Crawford, rookie first baseman with the New York Giants, hit three home runs in an exhibition game this spring, two of them coming with the bases fully occupied.

Charley Maxton, a former University of Purdue hurler, had the better of the veteran Rube Beaton in the game of April 19 and the Columbus Senators made away with a 5 to 2 victory over Minneapolis.

Besides a lot of money and real estate left to his widow, the late Jack Dunn also left for the Baltimore Orioles a youthful outfielder, Perry Richmond, who he said some day, will be sold to the majors for $100,000.

Wicks Memorial Organ Contract

New Paltz, May 29.—The organ committee appointed by the trustees of the Methodist Church have unanimously recommended to the donors (George Wicks and Arthur H. Wicks) and the church that the contract for the Wicks memorial organ be given to M. P. Moller, Inc., of Hagerstown, Maryland. Specifications were offered by a number of manufacturers. These were examined very critically by disinterested experts in organ playing, construction and maintenance. The decision was based upon their reports as to the reliability of the company and its products and the total beauty and serviceability of the proposed instrument. The organ will have eighteen stops, including chimes, with a very small portion of borrowed notes, two manuals and pedal. It will be especially constructed for the building, where the accommodation is reported perfect, and will take about four months for manufacture and installation.

NEVADA DESERT ONCE WAS RICH

Scientist Says Lake Covered Area Now Barren.

Levelock, Nev.—The barren stretches of Nevada once furnished rich pasture land for thousands of animals; its valleys were covered with deep waters of the ancient Lake Lahontan and its mountains were covered with verdure. Is the theory advanced by John T. Reid, Lovelock naturalist, in explanation of the finding of the metacarpal bone of an elephant by road builders in a gravel pit at the depth of 20 feet.

"The head of a buffalo, which had been found in a gravel pit four miles southwest of Lovelock, was donated to the University of Nevada recently," Reid said. "This discovery was considered of special importance in the study of old Lake Lahontan, which not so long ago covered the entire area in which the city of Lovelock is now located. At that time, probably not longer than 1,000 years ago, when the lake was at its greatest height, Lovelock was under 320 feet of water."

"The head of a species of extinct horse," continued Reid, "was found in the gravel banks northward of Pyramid lake. More recently, only two years ago, the bones of an extinct species of horse was found near Woolsey. It is probable the bones of the two horses came from the same species. However, there have been found in various parts of the Western mountain area, bones of three different types of horses. All these signify that these animals were numerous and ranged over considerable of the Western continent. The buffalo did not confine himself to the prairie regions of the Middle West, but he, too, was an animal that ranged all over the West."

"The discovery that has just been made, establishes that the buffalo must have been very numerous hereabouts, to have his remains found in two widely separated places, and it tells a story as well, that not over a thousand years ago, perhaps much less, these deserts were fertile to such an extent as to have provided food for countless numbers of wild animals."

Larks, Mocking Birds, Most Popular in U. S.

Washington.—Meadow larks and mocking birds are favorites the country over, Mrs. Katherine B. Tippetts of the General Federation of Women's Clubs finds as a result of a nationwide campaign to have each state adopt an official bird.

Most of the Southern states chose the mocking bird, while most of the Middle West selected the meadow lark. California named the condor and the District of Columbia chose the wood thrush.

A PAIR OF SOCKS

A Man Buys.
A Woman Buys.

Good morning. I'd like to look at some stockings, please. . . . Why, nothing, I guess. Let me see. . . . I think I'd like a pair of tan ones. . . . What's that? . . . No, that's too light. . . . Sunburn? Isn't that a peculiar shade? . . . Rather too yellow looking, if you know what I mean. . . . Oh, the size? Why, about a nine is plenty large enough but. . . . What's that color on the back? May I see that? . . . Oh, that has a square heel, hasn't it? I don't like a square heel very much. Haven't you that shade in a pointed heel? . . . Isn't that a perfect shame; that is just the shade I wanted? . . . Moon-glow. . . . Oh, you've found it? . . . Oh, yes. It is rather thin though, isn't it? . . . This is chiton? . . . Perhaps I should get something a little heavier. . . . Mr. Crouse is always saying that he should think I would freeze in such cob-web stockings, but men are so funny, don't you know? . . . Size nine. . . . Moon-glow? Well, you might let me look at some of the other shades. . . . Taupe. . . . blush dawn. . . . rose, beige. . . . evening dew. . . . atmosphere. . . . No, I don't think they would match my tan slippers very well. . . . Still, maybe I have enough tan stockings at home, and I'm sure to get some for my birthday. You may give me a pair of black ones, I guess, and perhaps you'd better give me size ten. . . . and will you charge them please.

PASS IT ON
When a bit of sunshine hits ye,
After passing of a cloud
When a fit of laughter glaze ye
And ye're spine is feebly proud:
Don't forget to up and sing it
At a soul that's feelin' blue
For the minute that ye sing it
It's a booniebang to you!

Home will always be an institution. There has to be some place where people can pick up chicken in their fingers.

The man who thinks the world owes him a living may find that it costs more to collect than it is worth.

There seems to be the germ of a great idea in the action of a Croation miner in Iowa who shot his attorney the other day because the lawyer hadn't handled a case just to suit him. Somehow we have the notion that whoever is appointed to handle his defense in the case will give it his best attention.

Doctor: "H'm! Severe headaches, bilious attacks, pain in the back—h'm! What is your age, madam?"
Patient (coyly): "Twenty-four, doctor."
"H'm!" (continuing to write): "Loss of memory, too!"

A Kingston father has told me of being bored by his daughter's sweetie, who takes her to the show or out on a joy ride nearly every night till ten or eleven, and then wants to sit in the parlor till midnight or after. The other night the father set a Big Ben alarm clock to go off at 11:15 and slipped it behind the davenport. And it worked like a charm. The young man took the hint and his hat and his leave quite suddenly.

Well, if worse comes to worse, and your neighbor won't keep his chickens at home, and his dog tears up your yard, and he glares at you every time he passes, you can always get a job as a dry agent and shoot him down.

Now it is stated that medical science has lengthened life 12 to 14 years. Somehow it sounds just like those government reports telling how much more money we have than we had last month.

Matters Before
The Surrogate

In the surrogate's court, objections to the probate of the will of William Harrington of Saugerties have been withdrawn and an agreement signed by contestants to withdraw their objections. Agnes Williams was left the bulk of the estate and $1 was bequeathed to each of three daughters, Annie, Elizabeth and Mary. Letters testamentary were issued to Benjamin Rowe, the executor named in the will, who is attorney in person.

In the matter of the estate of Thomas Daves Field, of Saugerties, Thomas W. Field, son, through Fowler & Connelly, made an application before Surrogate Kaufman to have the decree appointing Carrie Brown, a sister of decedent, administratrix of the estate, vacated or modified, so as to provide for the appointment of Thomas W. Field administrator in place of Carrie Brown, or also provide for his appointment as co-administrator with Carrie Brown. An order to show cause was returnable before Surrogate Kaufman on Tuesday, May 21, when Carrie Brown filed objections to appointment of Thomas D. Field as administrator or co-administrator. The matter was adjourned to May 28, when the application for the appointment of Field came on for hearing. No opposing affidavits being filed by petitioner, the petition was dismissed and Carrie Brown continues as administratrix. Benjamin Rowe appeared for Carrie Brown, the administratrix.

Little Journeys in

The Powerful Ojibways

THREE hundred years ago the Ojibway nation was the most powerful tribe of Indians in North America. The Ojibways ruled the forests from central Wisconsin and southern Michigan northward to the Hudson bay; from the western plains eastward to beyond Georgian bay.

For several centuries the Ojibways hunted the Sioux back when they invaded them from the west and many were the wars they carried on against the fierce Iroquois who inhabited Pennsylvania and New York and controlled the land around Lakes Erie and Ontario, and a narrow strip each side of the St. Lawrence river to its mouth.

The Ojibways, too, were probably the most numerous nation ever developed among the Indians of North America. Their language was Algonquin. Algonquin was spoken, in its dialects, by the New England Indians and by In tan tribes living as far south as the Carolinas and Kentucky.

The Iroquois were entirely surrounded by tribes that spoke some form of Algonquin. The Illinois tribes and the Pottawatomies were of Algonquin extraction. The Ojibways, often called the Chippewas, a corruption of the word Ojibway, were by far the strongest and most powerful division of the Algonquin family.

Kah-Ge-Gah-Bowh, a chief of the Ojibway nation, who had studied in the white man's schools, set out to compile a traditional history of the Ojibways more than eighty years ago. It was printed in 1830. You will hardly recognize Kah-Ge-Gah-Bowh as the author, for the libraries list the book as written by George Copway. That was his "white man's name."

In fact he was Rev. George Copway, lecturer, writer and world-traveler. He visited many nations of Europe, was favored highly as an after-dinner speaker, wrote travelogues and was quite a fellow. Much of his time he spent trying to convert his semi-savage brothers to Christianity.

If you will read his books, and other books written by men who knew the American Indians, you will find your picture of them changing. For one thing the Indian was not always on the warpath. His wars, fierce and cruel while they lasted, were often the result of long-continued wrongs. His pent-up wrath boiled over.

You will realize that the Indian worked hard. He fished and trapped and hunted that his family might exist. He would spend many months getting packs of furs together to trade with the white men on the frontiers. Look carefully at your map of Canada. You will find that the Ottawa river flows into the St. Lawrence near Montreal. It comes, an almost straight road, from near the headwaters of Lake Huron. As early as 1634, the Ojibways were using the Ottawa river as a highway to Montreal to trade furs for knives, guns, cloth, beads, whisky and other things they wanted.

Down the Ottawa they came, in happy parties, their canoes laden with the year's catch. Back up the Ottawa they would go, triumphantly returning with the goods they had bought with their furs. But there were, even then, a type of man who would correspond with our pay roll bandits of today.

Parties of Iroquois would now and then lie in wait and murder and loot the Ojibways. They were robbers, out for spoil. And every time a trading party of Ojibways was waylaid and murdered, the Ojibways would grow angrier.

Protests were in vain. Threats of war now and then caused the holdups to stop temporarily. Finally the Ojibways declared war. They enlisted neighboring tribes, Algonquin brothers; the Pottawatomies, the Illinois.

They struck terribly and swift. Whole villages of Iroquois were wiped out. The Iroquois were driven out of that entire triangle of land between Lake Huron and Lakes Erie and Ontario. The Ojibways slew their enemies to the last man, woman and child where they found them.

For a hundred years after that there was a place in Canada, not far from the borders of Georgian bay, which the Ojibways knew as "the Place of Iroquois Bones." A whole Iroquois city was surrounded there. The annihilation was complete. For a century, the bones bleached unburied. The Ojibways believed that the spirits of the Iroquois came back to their bones at night to mourn. If they ventured near, they said, they could hear dismal wailing. So they stayed away and the bones reposed in solitude.

Ladder Superstition

About the best information available on the antiquity of the "walking under a ladder" superstition seems to be, as one writer puts it, "it probably dates from the first time that somebody or something fell off a ladder and struck a person walking beneath." Since ladders are notoriously tricky, the belief probably dates from the first ladder. Another authority has it that builders started the superstition in self defense, for a person walking outside the angle of a ladder is much less likely to cause damage to himself or the worker than if he passes beneath.—Detroit News.

Two years ago this month the General Electric Refrigerator was publicly announced for the first time.

Fifteen years of research and development had produced a refrigerator with an hermetically sealed, dust-proof mechanism, mounted on top... a refrigerator with an improved type of cabinet, mounted on legs... one with an accessible temperature control... that established a new standard of quiet operation... that required no oiling... that dispensed with all troublesome machinery...

that lowered operating costs... that carried an unequalled two-year service guarantee.

A radical improvement has been made in the cabinet! It is now all-steel! It cannot warp. It is as strong as a safe.

You can purchase the new models shown at our display rooms on conveniently spaced payments.

brisk demand for the rails and public utilities, several of which reached
new high ground.
Funding was only moderately
heavy, indicating that speculators
were showing little disposition to extend commitments over the holiday,
particularly in view of the possibility of adverse developments in the credit
situation of the Paris Reparations Conference.
Call money renewed unchanged at 6 per cent and held steady at that rate throughout the morning, with a fairly liberal supply of funds available despite the holiday currency demands of between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000. The shipment of $3-$5,000,000 in Argentine gold to New York was announced during the day.
But the metal will not reach here before late in June. Bankers are looking for another stringency in call money.

Rapid Hose Scores
Another Success

Rapid Hose Company ministered
to the fire at the final time at Kingston High School auditorium
Tuesday night, surpassed the successful performance of Monday night,
and greatly pleased those who witnessed it. The vocalists, dancers and comedians lived up to the professional spirit instilled in them by their director, Eddie Barton, to whose prestige they added by their performance.
Now that the minstrel is over, Bill
White, cornetist of Malsenholder's orchestra, which so admirably accompanied the show, can come in for his share of commendation. Bill was the musician who played the classical number while one of the boys in the
"Two Gals" act faked the solo.
The audience generously applauded
the apparent player, who credited Mr. White with having played the solo act at the conclusion of the number.

New Paltz, May 27.—Philip Dero,
a lifelong resident of New Paltz,
who died Saturday, May 18, was born April 2, 1862. He attended New Paltz Academy and later was associated with his father in the mercantile business. The firm of S.
Dero and Son owned and occupied the building on Main street which is now the Gregory drug store. It compared favorably with large city
stores and after his father's death in 1904, Mr. Dero became owner and manager and carried on the business successfully. Mr. Dero was secretary of the board of academy trustees, also secretary for years of the Huguenot Historical, Patriotic and Monumental Society, and a trustee of the New Paltz Savings Bank.
He was conscientious in the performance of duty, upright and honorable in character, kindly in his family relations. He was stricken about eight years ago with illness
which incapacitated him for business. Through all his inactive days
he was patient and invariably cheerful, his mind being unimpaired and events of the day dispassionately
recalled. In 1887 Mr. Dero married Ella R.
Rogers of Bridge Hampton, Long Island. She and their son, Philip R., and two sisters, Mrs. Alice Hall and Sarah Dero, survive him. The Rev. Edwin D. Miner of the Reformed Church officiated at the funeral services held at the residence
on North Chestnut street, Tuesday afternoon. The savings bank trustees were bearers.

Expect 100% of American Legion

The American Legion is expected to turn out 100 per cent strong, or
as near that as possible, for the big Memorial Day parade, sponsored by the World War veterans' organization, so in order to form the organization's unit in time for the parade
every Legionnaire is requested to be at the Memorial Building Thursday at 9:15 a. m. promptly. Legionnaires will line up behind the Kingston Post Drum Corps, who will be fully uniformed. Men not in the corps will wear post caps.
Heavy Frost on May 29, 1884
Old residents, who heard persons complain about the warm temperature of today told of a heavy frost that covered this section of the state on the night of May 29, 1884.
It started to freeze about 7 o'clock
in the evening and the spring season being well advanced, vegetation which was well along was killed
by the frost and people shivered
with the cold on Decoration Day morning.
Barnum's Circus gave exhibitions
on May 29, 1881, in this city, the tent being pitched on what was known as the Centennial Grounds,
back of the site where now stands
the high school and near the Benedictine Hospital. The attendants at the evening show were chilled with the cold.
The late Charles Merritt, who ran
a garden truck farm on the lowlands back of Clinton avenue, had over 12,000 tomato plants frozen besides thousands of other plants,
while the market gardeners of the Plank Road across the Highways
bridge met with a very large loss.

part in the parade. The pastors of the Franklin Street A. M. E. Church and Emanuel Baptist Church urge all colored citizens to take part in the parade.
BLANKS FOR "KINGSTON'S FAVORITE DAUGHTER"
Although it was planned by the committee in charge of the Excelsior Hose Company "Kingston's Favorite Daughter Election" to have published the nomination blank on Friday, the demand was so great for blanks that on another page of this issue of The Freeman will be found the first official nomination blank. The person nominating the winning candidate will be presented with $25 in gold. It costs nothing to enter a candidate and interested parties may nominate as many young ladies as they desire.
Donald and Doris Remus, 11
months' old twins of Mr. and Mrs.
John Remus of 41 Livingston street,
will have the honor of being presented with a beautiful loving cup as they were the first twins entered in the baby pageant.
Flora Lyke, 19 months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Lyke, was the first red-headed baby entered.
Flora will also receive a loving cup.
Up to the present no triplets have been registered. The examinations are expected to start the early part of next week.
The show windows of the baby
clinic, 36 John street, are filled with loving cups. Several beautiful gifts were received by the committee that will be presented to the candidates
in the "Kingston's Favorite Daughter Election" at the close of the pageant during the coronation ceremony.
Forsyth Park Services.
All-day services will be held at Forsyth Park on Memorial Day,
when an old fashioned religious meeting will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Keller. Louis Holsteiner
will also speak.

Motors to Speed
Local Mail Service

Kingston's horse-drawn delivery
for postal service will be replaced
July 1 by two motor trucks, according to advice received by Postmaster Walter P. Crane from Cossumman Harcourt J. Fraul.
The Post Office Department at Washington has received two concrete proposals contemplating the provision of motor vehicles to replace the horses, and has decided to accept them.
The new equipment will cost the department several hundred dollars more yearly, but it is believed it will effect more satisfactory and efficient service.
About the Folks
Hannah Hillis was removed from her home, 17 Tompkins street, to the Kingston Hospital in the ambulance
on Tuesday.
Mrs. Leo J. Schupp of 19 Adams street, who underwent a serious operation at the Benedictine Hospital
last Saturday, is improving under the care of Dr. O'Connor.
Grand Knight Bernard A. Feary,
of Kingston Council, No. 222,
Knights of Columbus, Past Grand Knight Florian P. and Mrs. Winger, and State Treasurer Patrick T. and Mrs. Murphy left today for the state convention of the K. of C. to be held at Lake Placid.
Society Notes
Osterhout-Headricks.
Royalston Osterhout, and Miss
Dora Headricks, both of Stone Ridge,
were married at the parsonage of St.
James M. E. Church on Saturday,
May 11, by the pastor, the Rev. H.
Neal. They were attended by Mr.
and Mrs. Sidney Myer.
JACK HILOWITZ HAD LEG
LACERATED TUESDAY NIGHT
Jack Hiowitz, 9 years old, of 56
Albany avenue, while playing Taw-day evening in the grand stand at the Kingston Driving Park, fell and received a bad laceration on the right leg. The boy was taken to the Kingston Hospital where Dr. C. B.
Van Gaasbeck found it necessary to take nine stitches to close the wound.
Later the boy was taken home.
Vets in Memorial Day Parade.
Members of Joyce-Schrick Post,
No. 1386, Veterans of Foreign War,
will meet at the "Dugout" on East Chestnut street, Memorial Day at 9 a. m. to make ready for their part in the parade. The vets will be led by the Citizens' Band.

MEMORIAL DAY
Memorial Day is a day when we pay tribute to heroes who fought for principles that we believe to be associated with liberty and democracy in America. It is a patriotic occasion dedicated to that Americanism which has raised a weak and scattered people into the most powerful position
among the nations of the earth.

Sporting Goods Store Opens June 1

A. Donald Sweeney and J. Schuyler Schooner, under the firm name of Sweeney & Schooner, will on Saturday, June 1, reopen "The Sporting Goods Store" at 259 Fair street, formerly conducted by Charles A. Warren. For the past several weeks the store has been undergoing a complete change and when it is opened for business Saturday morning the public will find a completely stocked and equipped sporting goods store where everything pertaining to sports will be found.

Destroyed by fire last winter, the store has been entirely rebuilt and newly furnished. All fixtures have been designed and installed by the new proprietors to give the greatest amount of display and to make easy shopping for the customer. Edsel Flowers, who for years was with Mr. Warren as manager, will be associated with the new firm and will be pleased to meet his old friends again at "The Sporting Goods Store."

Sweeney & Schooner will handle everything which comes under the sporting goods line and one of their specialties will be golf equipment. Special fixtures have been installed for this department. In rebuilding the store numerous innovations were worked out to give better display of merchandise. At the rear of the store on the mezzanine floor will be located the office and the radio department. In the radio department the living room idea has been carried out as faithfully as possible and in the demonstration of Atwater Kent radios as nearly as possible home surroundings will be found. The department has been equipped with every chair and modern home furnishings.

At the front of the store on entering the customer finds a large display space similar to a show window, but facing the entrance door. Along the sides of the store are arranged open display cases, some of the display shelves are closed from view of the public. This gives a better display of merchandise and also places the articles in view of the customer.

In the center of the store are tables for the display of merchandise. A complete line of fishing tackle, guns, ammunition and in fact all kinds of sporting merchandise will be handled. Sweeney & Schooner will be distributors for the famous D. & M. line and will also handle Spalding and Wright & Ditson merchandise.

The floor covering is a heavy linoleum of artistic design in which one of the designs is that of a deer, a most appropriate floor covering for a sporting goods store.

Tappen Camp Will Escort G. A. R.

Tappen Camp, No. 1, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, whose object is to perpetuate the memory of those who sacrificed their lives in the War of the Rebellion and to take care of those who are still living, have been very busy the past week redecorating the last resting places of these departed comrades. The Stars and Stripes now fly over their graves, but in order to make sure that not a single grave is left barren they will meet tonight at 5:30 o'clock at their headquarters in Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street, from where they will make a tour of all cemeteries to survey the work.

Thursday morning at 7:45 o'clock they will assemble at School No. 7 to escort the surviving members of Pratt Post, G. A. R., and the school children to Willetts cemetery to decorate the graves. From there they will counter-march to Mechanics' Hall to escort the Jr. O. U. A. M. to McEntee street, where they will take up their duty of acting as escort to the Grand Army of the Republic.

They extend a cordial invitation to all sons and grandsons of Civil War veterans to participate on this occasion.
